

529 college savings plans

Preparing for the higher price of higher education

With the costs of higher education skyrocketing, you need a plan to help your children or grandchildren get the education they need to compete for a good job. A 529 college savings plan was created to help parents, grandparents and others put money aside for a child's higher education expenses on a tax-advantaged basis. Knowing the benefits and considerations of starting a 529 plan is the first step in helping your loved ones pursue their goals.

Let's start with the basics

- A 529 plan is a state-sponsored higher education savings account. Each individual state determines the maximum contributions, eligible investments and tax advantages.
- Contributions are made on an after-tax basis, but earnings grow tax-free.
- Distributions used toward the qualified education expenses of the beneficiary at an eligible educational institution are free from federal and state income taxes.
- The account owner, who is usually the contributor, controls the account, including the beneficiary designation, investment selection, and when and how much to distribute.

The who, what and where of contributions

- Who is eligible: Parents, grandparents, relatives and friends who are U.S. citizens or resident aliens and at least 18 years old may open an account and contribute.
- Maximum contributions: There is no annual maximum, but annual contributions over $14,000 may be subject to federal gift tax. Contributions to the account are limited to each state's specific maximum account size (generally between $235,000 and $450,000).
- Eligible distributions: Funds can be used for tuition, mandatory fees, books, supplies, and equipment required for enrollment or attendance. In addition, certain room and board costs and certain expenses for special-needs students may qualify.

- Eligible institutions: Whether your beneficiary attends a private or public university, in-state or out-of-state, trade or graduate school, funds in the account may be used at any accredited higher educational institution in the nation, and many abroad.
- Allowable investments: The state determines the allowable investments, typically an approved list of mutual funds.
- Contribution deadline: Depending on the state's rules, the due date is generally either year-end or the contributor's tax return due date.
- Non-qualified distributions: Earnings are taxed as ordinary income and may be subject to a federal 10% penalty.¹
- Allowable changes: Both transfers and rollovers are limited to one, per beneficiary, per 12 months. Investment changes are limited to twice per calendar year.
- Resident requirement: You're not required to invest in your own state's 529 plan but should consider state tax advantages when selecting a plan with your UBS Financial Advisor. Distributions can be used to pay for schools outside of the contributor's or beneficiary's state of residence. You may contribute to more than one state 529 plan.

The key benefits

- Tax advantages: Earnings are not subject to federal tax or state tax when used for the qualified education expenses of the designated beneficiary.
- Accelerated gifting: Instead of gifting $14,000 per beneficiary per year using the current annual exclusion, you may contribute five years of gifts in the first year, for a total of $70,000 per individual without paying gift tax (or $140,000 for married couples filing jointly). This also excludes that money from your estate. Taking advantage of this option allows you to make significant contributions early and benefit from any tax-deferred growth within the 529 account.²

The key considerations

- 529 plans charge fees and expenses to cover investment expenses and the administration of your account.
- Withdrawals from a 529 plan not used for the beneficiary's qualified education expenses are taxed and penalized. The earnings portion of the withdrawal is subject to a 10% federal penalty and is taxed at the income tax rate of the person who receives the withdrawal. If you were able to deduct your original contributions on your state income tax return, you will generally have to report additional state "recapture" income.
- Your investment choices are limited to the pre-established investment portfolios offered by the plan, and may only be changed twice a year.
- College savings plans don't guarantee your return and are subject to risk—you could lose some or all of the money you've contributed. Markets could potentially decline when your child is ready to enroll in college and 529 funds are needed to pay tuition.
- Your 529 plan could have an impact on the child receiving financial aid.

Let's have a conversation

The best way to prepare for your children's or grandchildren's education expenses is to become familiar with your savings options. Let's discuss your 529 plan options and other education savings alternatives.

Your life today is much bigger than your investments. And achieving your life's goals is being challenged in new ways. By the realities of a longer retirement. The demands of caring for aging parents. The threat of online identity theft. And the financial burden of long-term healthcare. Your UBS Financial Advisor can help you understand how all the moving parts of your life can fit together to help you pursue what's important—including the role that a 529 college savings plan can play in your overall financial plan. It's what we call: Advice. Beyond investing.

529 plans are sold with program descriptions that contain details of the risks, fees and charges associated with the particular investment which you should read carefully before investing. The program description and offering statement are included in the new account opening kit provided by the mutual fund company sponsoring the 529 plan. These disclosures should be reviewed closely before deciding to invest. Even though individuals are not required to invest in their in-state plan, some states do provide tax or other advantages exclusively to residents who invest in their own state's plan. For example, many states offer a state income tax deduction for contributions and/or state income tax exemption for qualified withdrawals. States may impose state tax liability on withdrawals and/or earnings from out-of-state 529 plans. In addition, some states offer prepaid tuition plans. Neither UBS Financial Services Inc. nor any of its employees provide tax or legal advice. The tax implications of a 529 plan should be discussed with your legal and/or tax advisors. Investors should be aware that the markets have risks and the value of their investments changes from day to day. Therefore, an investment's return and prindpal value will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when redeemed or sold, may be worth more or less than their original cost. The information in this document is intended to be current as of September 2015, but it is not intended to be a complete and detailed review of 529 plans.

¹The 10% penalty does not apply on account of death, disability or scholarship. The new beneficiary must be a family member of the current beneficiary. If you take a non-qualified distribution you may also have to pay back the state's tax benefits.

² The accelerated gifting election is made on IRS Form 709 and filed with your federal tax return in the first year the accelerated gift is given. You cannot use the annual exclusion for gifts to this individual before the end of five calendar years, but subsequent rounds (i.e., every five years) of accelerated gifting is permitted.

³ Alabama offers state tax benefits for investing its in-state 529 plan and imposes state tax on withdrawals from out-of-state 529 plans. Residents of Alabama should proceed with extreme caution when considering investing in an out-of-state 529 plan.

⁴These states have tax benefits for investing in any state's 529 plan.
